Giants Finally Break Through Defence of World's Champions---College Season Opens With Keen Contests

McGraw's Boys Rise and Score 7 to 2 Victory.

Columbia, S. C., April B.—After drop-bing four games in a row to the champion Red Sox the exasperated Giants rose in their wrath to-day and smote the title holders hip and thigh, scoring a decisive victory by 7 to 2 at the university grounds.

While the triumph of McGraw's athletes was in the main due to an outhreak of torasile hitting by the men in the batting list who are reputed to be able to clout the ball, yet the pitching of John Paul Jones and Jesse Winters, two youngsters who are making their major league ébut, was a bright and reasuring feature of the combat.

Considering the way the Red Sox had been tearing into McGraw's other pitchiers. While better gave a remarkable exhibition. The Giant chieffain kept him in six innings this afternoon, longer than any pitcher on either the Giants or Red Sox has gone this year. But for a fumble by Doyle on what should have been an easy double play in the sixth inning Boxton never would have scored. Five hilts were made in the six innings Boxton never would have scored. RUSH OF RED SOX Game to Columbia Nine UP AS BRIGHT STAR PASSED BY SENATE IN ALL SPHERES OF SPORT

TACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 9.—According to first hand information which we obtained last night when the Giants and the Red Sox stopped in this city on their way to Columbia, S. C., for the fifth game of their series the contests have aroused intense ill feeling between the clubs. When the Giant-Tiger tour two years ago developed the famous tilt between Ty Cobb and Charley Herzog it was thought that the last word in spring series animosities had been developed. But we have it that the Giants-Red Sox feud already has outdone that shindig. The Giants are embittered that they have lost four or cess, have become very cocky, and a few of them have become overbearing.

Some of the Boston players last night declared openly that they were out to do the Giants in avery cocky. York State. The fate of the bill for a cess, have become very cooky, and a few of them have become time was in doubt, but Senator M. H. Some of the Boston players last night declared openly that the Gibbs of Buffsto, the introducer and do the Giants in every game and that there would be no quarter.

The feud had been developing gradually and came to a head in the fourth game of the series at Gainesville yesterday afternoon. Ferdie Schupp was pitching for the Giants, and as it was his first serious attempt to come back the Glants were trying their hardest behind him. However, the Red Sox began to ride Schupp from the start. Artie Fietcher took up the fight for the pitcher, particularly with McNally, the Boston second baseman, who appeared to have taken on himself the brunt of the attack on Schupp.

"Why don't you let this young fellow alone," said Fletcher to McNally. He is trying hard to make good and you shouldn't ride him. If you want to start anything start it with me. Larry Doyle also took up the battle for Schupp, and he warned McNally that if he did not stop his ragging tactics he would have to look when Doyle came into second. McNally declined to stop, and in the sixth inning came Doyle's chance. He went into McNally at second

Nelson's recrudescence to-day is all the more noteworthy because of the fact that until several days ago he had no curve ball. The blond fellow relied altogether on his speed and his change of pace. Last week Huggins took him in hand and asked him why he did not pitch a hook or two. "Keeping the hook under cover?" Huggins asked. "Why, no." Nelson replied. "I am not using a hook for the good reason that I have none to use."

The debt high and Doyle cut the Boston man's finger. They had a short argument, and Scott broke into the fight.

That shut Scott up "You just wait until I go into second," warned Scott. "Oh, I'll wait," Doyle replied. "But you haven't got on yet this series and I am afraid that I am going to have a long wait. That shut Scott up, but the ill feeling increased as the game went on. As the train from Gainesville came into Jack-sonville last night Ed Barrow, manager of the Red Sox, declined to walk through the Giants' cars. Before, the seven games are played we may see more interesting developments in this set of exhibitions of "friendly rivalry."

Red Sox Loom Up as a Great Ball Club.

While New Tork fans may become riled over the tactics of the Red Sox and some may become discouraged because of the sweeping success of the Boston club two facts stand out—first, that just now the Red Sox are far the better club; secondly, that the Giants are not in condition. The Red Sox, in comparison with the Giants, are a lot of youngsters. They got a fine field and the weather at Tampa and got into condition very quickly. Right now critics have given that they probably are the most formidable club in either league. Maclanis is playing like the great Stuffy of old; McNally is fielding like a fiend won gailoping by three lengths. A couple of Vitt's plays against the Glain; were classics. In the outfield Hooper, Strunk, Ruth and Gainer are getting, everything and hitting hard.

The Boston infield did not make a single error in 180 chances in the first four games with the Giants, and only two other misplays were chalked against the team. And the Red Sox pitchers are going great guns. Dumont gives in promise of being the great pitcher he looked two years ago, and even Pennock is going like a world beater. Mays is showing his best form and Caldwell is going like a world beater. Mays is showing his best form and Caldwell is going like a world beater. Mays is showing his best form and Caldwell is going to take a great team to beat it. The right handed Gainer, though normally a first baseman, is Ruth's alternate against left hand pitching. This leaves Gilhooley out in the cold. Gainer doing outfield duty does not make it look possible that Brooklyn will be able to pry the player loose from Barrow. Report has it that Wilbert Robinson has approached Barrow about selling Gainer, but the other Red Sox declare that Barrow will not let Del go, and that even if he wanted to he could not get Gainer out of the American League.
